Hello!

My name is April Kuo, and I am from Taiwan. As I mentioned the name of my country, I guess you may probably start to guess: where is that place? Does that equal to Thailand? Well... of course the answer is "NO"! And we are not part of China as well. Hence, my mission here is to introduce you everything about my country as best as I can. But first of all, I want to introduce myself a bit so that you will have brief understanding about me.

I am an open-minded person who does have sense of humor. Personally, I like to share with others; I trust people and can be trusted in the same way. Most of the time, I am quite easy-going, happy and interesting. I remember my favorite subjects at high school were math and literature, but then I studied Economics and other business-related subjects at National Taiwan University (NTU), which is one of the top 3 schools in Taiwan. Though I am not always the best student in class, I studied hard, and even played harder. I like to hang out with friends just like most young people do, I have wide interests in sports, music, movies, books, learning languages, and all kind of arts. But what really builds my personality and effects every action I make is - I love to try new things, especially those seem like to be great challenges to me, which may cause positive influence on me and allow me, myself to grow better.

Therefore, I join the KEMPELEN project, and I have strong passion toward it. The first reason I think I just mentioned above, the second reason is that I love Taiwan; I am proud of Taiwan, and that makes me want to make more people - not just "hear" but understand my country more deeply. Besides, I also hope that I can learn from you, include to experience the way you live, to understand the history, the culture, and the spirit of Slovakia, and either to know you better through this once-in-the-lifetime chance. I am sure I can share with you whatever I know, or even teach you some Chinese.

Yours sincere
